

The Cambridge Women in Philosophy Group

Women are under-represented in philosophy, and this leads to a number of issues that the Women in Philosophy Group aims to address. Through a series of talks and workshops, we highlight the work that women are doing in academic philosophy at Cambridge and around the world. This allows women in philosophy to meet one another and share their experiences.

Our group shares in a larger movement, and we recently contributed to the first report on the representation of women in philosophy, produced by The British Philosophical Association Committee for Women in Philosophy and SWIP UK. You can view the report here:

<http://www.swipuk.org/notices/2011-09-08/>

If you have any questions, would like to receive a detailed termcard or give a talk, please contact Emily Thomas (aeet2), Emily McTernan (emm51) or Amber North (an328).

Events*

Events in 2012:

Lent term:

Mar 12: Jenny Saul (title TBA)

Jan 27: David Archard (title TBA)

Events in 2011:

Michaelmas term:

Dec 5: Professor Anna Alexandrova “Girly philosophy” and Sophia Connell “Not exactly a career plan: the truth about work/life balance”

Oct 17: Meet and greet, followed by a trip to a conference dealing with the under-representation of women in the sciences, “The trouble with women”

Lent term:

Mar 7: Professor Jane Heal “What are psychological concepts for?”

Feb 21: Graduate workshop - “On PhDs and Things: Being a Graduate Female in Philosophy”

Lorna Finlayson, “The Political is Political”

Joanna Burch-Brown “On Structure and Composition in Philosophical Writing: Stealing Tricks from Playwrights”

Christine Tiefensee “Moving On from Metaethics”

Feb 7: Dr. Clare Chambers “Writing about Women in Philosophy”

*All, from any department, and from any interest, are welcome to attend.