TIMETABLE 2017 - 2018  15

RECOMMENDED READING  17

* It is essential to sign up for this course by 6th October 2017.
The Philosophy Graduate Training Programme runs alongside the academic programmes.

The aim of the Programme is threefold:

i) To enable students to learn about, and be trained in, all the resources available in Cambridge that might assist their studies;

ii) To enable students to learn teaching, presentation and other transferable skills; and

iii) To prepare students for making applications and attending interviews for the next stage in their careers.
COMPUTING AND OTHER RESOURCES

COMPUTING IN CAMBRIDGE

On Friday, 6th October at 10am, our Computing Officer, Marie-France Moss, will give a short presentation covering the Cambridge Desktop Services including e-mail, printing and wireless networks. The presentation will take place in the Philosophy Faculty’s Graduate Centre.

RESEARCH TOOLS IN PHILOSOPHY

Jenni Lecky-Thompson, the Faculty Librarian, will introduce new Philosophy graduate students to Research Tools in Philosophy, on Friday, 6th October, 10.30am-11.30am in the Faculty Board Room. This workshop will include demonstrations of a variety of e-resources for Philosophy and tips on how to use them effectively. All new philosophy graduate students are expected to attend this presentation, which will follow on from the 'Computing in Cambridge' presentation mentioned above.

This will be followed by a tour of the Casimir Lewy Library (the Philosophy Library) for those who are interested.

RESEARCHER DEVELOPMENT

Matthew Lane from the Development Office is organizing an Arts, Humanities and Social Science 1st Year PhD skills induction event. This is planned for the second week of term. Now in its fourth year, the event will give 1st year PhDs a further introduction to researcher development opportunities. Further information about this will be emailed when the date and location have been confirmed.

The Researcher Development Programme offers training for Research students. Information on the courses available can be found here:

http://www.rdp.cam.ac.uk

Some of the courses available to do online include; Speed Reading, Managing a Research Project and Time Management Toolkit.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

UL Orientation Tours

The UL is unique: a national, legal deposit library with an amazing collection of around 8 million items - over two million of which you can browse on our open shelves. If that sounds a bit daunting, why not go on a brief orientation tour to help you find your way around? In 45 minutes they’ll show you how to find your way around the building and its print collections. You’ll discover how to navigate the catalogues, order from the closed stacks, and find your book on the open shelves. They’ll even tell you what they keep in the famous Library tower ...

Places can be booked at http://training.cam.ac.uk/cul/theme/orient?providerId=119246h

GENERAL ADVICE ON COMPUTING AND RESOURCES

Writing and discussing

- Your fellow graduate students and research fellows are an invaluable resource. Show your work to them and ask for feedback. Or set up a reading group to discuss works of common interest. The Boardroom can be booked (via the Faculty Office) for informal seminars.
- Read Phillips & Pugh’s How to Get a PhD
- For style, read Strunk and White’s The Elements of Style (Please refer to P.16, Recommended Reading, for full details of these publications.)
- Reference books (dictionaries, thesaurus, style manuals, etc.) are on the shelves at the far end of the Graduate Study Centre.
I.T. resources

- The Faculty’s web pages: http://www.phil.cam.ac.uk
- Many resources are available on-line. The most comprehensive list of the databases and e-journals now available is at the University Library’s website http://www.lib.cam.ac.uk/eresources/index.php accessible on any computer connected to the @cam domain. These include The Philosophers’ Index (searchable database of philosophical articles) and the Routledge Encyclopedia of Philosophy.
- A number of databases containing works of major philosophers are available on the PWF. Attend the ‘Research tools in philosophy’ presentation on 6th October for information about these.
- The Computing Service runs courses on all aspects of computing, including word processing and construction of web pages: http://training.cam.ac.uk/ucs/ or pick up lists from the Service’s reception on the New Museums Site (where you can also find some handy leaflets). Information also on the noticeboard in the Graduate Centre.
- Cambridge University has joined with e-learning publishers ‘Epigeum’ to collaborate in creating a series of online research skills courses. Topics include Intellectual Property in the Research Context, Getting Published and Career Planning. You can register using your Raven password at http://www.skills.cam.ac.uk/postgrads (see under ‘Quick Links’).
- The website http://www.vitae.ac.uk contains a wealth of information for doctoral students including planning a doctorate, self-development, supervision, raising your profile etc.
- The Graduate Study Centre is equipped with full computing facilities. Graduate Students receive an initial allocation of printer credit from the Faculty, but should you use this up, additional printer credit is available online.
TEACHING SKILLS

TEACHING AND TRANSFERABLE SKILLS TRAINING PROGRAMME

The programme, this year led by Dr John Filling, is directed at graduate students and research fellows in philosophy. It consists of three interactive workshops. It aims to achieve:

- greater understanding of what is involved in learning and teaching.
- increased confidence and control through the development of skills.
- improved teaching practice through reflection and discussion.

This is the seventeenth year of the programme. It has been improved in the light of the feedback received from previous years’ participants.

Graduate students and Research Fellows play a significant part in our undergraduate teaching programme. The Faculty is firmly committed to providing the best possible teaching for its undergraduates and expects that every PhD student will attend every workshop. The official list of supervisors distributed to Directors of Studies specifies whether supervisors have attended them. It is also a requirement for holders of AHRC awards to undertake transferable skills training.

MPhil students are very welcome to attend any of the training sessions. Visiting graduate students are also encouraged to attend.

Why you should take part

(1) The programme will help you state ideas simply and clearly.
(2) It will as a side-effect improve both the oral and written presentation of your research.
(3) We hope that the workshops will be enjoyable occasions that bring together graduate students and research fellows to share experiences, ideas and concerns.
(4) The Faculty will provide a certificate to add to your CV.
Brief descriptions of the workshops

1. Small group teaching
   Monday 9th October, 2-4pm, Faculty Board Room
   This first workshop covers discussion groups. We discuss basic practical matters related to the running of discussion groups as well as the options for covering the relevant parts of the syllabus. We also consider the impact of non-verbal behaviour on learning and examine ways to develop skills in listening and asking questions.

2. Supporting students with special needs
   Monday 23rd October, 2.30-4pm, Room G11, Faculty of Law
   The aim is to raise the awareness of the special needs of particular groups of students. We will look at practical approaches to improving their learning environments. This workshop will be run by a member of the University’s Disability Resource Centre.

3. Supervising, assessment and evaluation
   Monday 6th November, 2-4pm, Faculty Board Room
   We will focus on the particular challenges of supervising students one-to-one. We will look at the roles of supervisor and student, ways to structure supervisions, and the aims and methods of giving oral and written feedback. We will also consider methods of evaluation, both of students and of your own teaching, including supervision reports, questionnaires, and observation of colleagues.

Please book your place on this programme by contacting Zoe Walker-Fagg (zw249@cam.ac.uk) by Friday 6th October.
OTHER PROGRAMMES

SUPERVISING IN PHILOSOPHY

Supervising Undergraduates: An Introduction

All new supervisors should attend Supervising Undergraduates: An Introduction. The first session of the academic year is on Tuesday 3rd October at 4-6.30pm, with more sessions running until 18th January 2018. Details and booking form can be found on the website of the Centre for Personal and Professional Development:

https://www.training.cam.ac.uk/cppd/event/2180082

Supervising Undergraduates more effectively

This session, run by the Centre for Personal and Professional Development, is aimed at those with one year’s experience who might wish to compare their approach to that of others. There is just one session (Monday 15th January, 4-6pm, King’s College, Keynes Hall), so do book early at:

https://www.training.cam.ac.uk/cppd/event/2182168

Supervisors’ Appraisal Scheme

This is a scheme run by the Philosophy PhD students, designed to assist students who are supervising undergraduates. Emphasis is placed upon improving supervising techniques; to do so, participants in the scheme are paired with an ‘Appraiser’ (a fellow graduate student working in a different area of philosophy, experienced in supervising). The Appraiser sits in on a supervision, offers feedback and collates feedback from supervisees which is in turn passed on to the participant. Luke Cash is co-ordinating the scheme in 2017-18. If you would like more information please e-mail him at: lc580@cam.ac.uk
LECTURING

Lecturing Performance

The Centre for Personal and Professional Development runs a half-day course: Lecturing Performance, on Tuesday 26th September, Friday 12th January, Friday 20th April, and Tuesday 5th June.

https://www.training.cam.ac.uk/cppd/event/2180610

Guidance within the Faculty

Final year PhD students who are asked to offer a course of lectures may request advice from a member of the Faculty at the writing stage and feedback on the lectures. It can also be arranged for fellow PhD students to sit in on your lecture and offer feedback. Recording equipment is available if you would prefer to listen to a rerun of your lecture in private! Any questions to Zoe in room 324 or at zw249@cam.ac.uk.

Presentation Skills

The Careers service offers advice on interviews and can arrange interview practice with a careers advisor, using a webcam. More information can be found on the attached link:

http://www.careers.cam.ac.uk/applying/selection/interviews/index.asp

The Computing Service offer training on Powerpoint with dates throughout the year:
https://training.cam.ac.uk/ucs/event/2225777

There are also a range of courses covering voice, presentation and communication. Full details of all these courses are on the Centre for Personal and Professional Development website: www.training.cam.ac.uk/cppd.
GENERAL ADVICE AND RESOURCES

- A guide for supervisors in Philosophy is available from the Faculty Office.
- Refer to the Undergraduate Handbook for information about the Philosophy Tripos. Recommend the notes on reading and writing philosophy to your students.
- Consult the Lecture List, Course Outlines/Descriptions, Reading Lists and past papers, which can all be found on the Faculty’s webpage.
- Attached is an annotated reading list on teaching and learning. Some you can recommend to undergraduates.
- The supervision room can be booked in the Faculty Office.
- Feel free to consult the Director of Graduate Studies for advice on any aspect of teaching.
The Language Centre will be running weekly classes for students in the Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences to develop their skills in reading documents in French, German, Italian, Brazilian Portuguese, Russian and Spanish. The aim is to develop strategies for reading longer texts faster. A variety of beginners and intermediate classes are offered.

Details of classes for the 2017/18 academic year can be found here:

http://www.langcen.cam.ac.uk/lc/culp/culp-specialist-courses.html

The Language Centre also holds resources that can be used to study 170 different Languages in the John Trim Centre, as well as online courses. More information can be found here:

http://www.langcen.cam.ac.uk/graduates/graduates.php
ADMISSIONS INTERVIEWING

Towards the end of your time here as a PhD student you may well be asked by one of the Colleges to assist in the interviewing of prospective undergraduates. If this were the case you may be expected to take part in some form of professional development. The Centre for Personal and Professional Development runs Admissions Selection Workshops which can be booked via the following link:

https://www.training.cam.ac.uk/cppd/event/2179655

GETTING PAPERS PUBLISHED

If you are considering getting your work published, you may find it useful to read some online guides and be aware of phishing scams. Some good guides to read are:

Publishing Advise for Graduate Students and
Publishing your Philosophy

Your Supervisor will also be happy to give advice on this.

GENERAL ADVICE AND RESOURCES

Presentations and Conferences

Take every opportunity to present your work to discussion groups, seminars, faculty colloquia, philosophy societies and conferences. The public defence of your work will:
* stimulate your research
* provide extra feedback
* improve your presentation skills
* make you a better teacher
* enhance your CV
* raise your profile
* give you deadlines.

There are many philosophy seminars, formal and informal, in Cambridge. Presenting work at these will boost confidence in a friendly setting. But it is also important to branch out. You could start with postgraduate conferences or postgraduate sessions at conferences (e.g. the Joint Session of the Aristotelian Society and the Mind Association held every July).
Advertisements for conferences are generally circulated by e-mail, but some are displayed in the Graduate Study Centre. Many journals contain announcements for conferences.
Academic job advertisements

* Please notify the Graduate office if you intend to apply for jobs. Copies of any advertisements received can then be sent to you.
* The best website for philosophy jobs is http://philjobs.org. Also, keep an eye on the jobs pages of the THE and the Guardian for UK jobs (including Research Fellowships), the Reporter for Research Fellowships.
* http://www.jobs.ac.uk: lists academic jobs
* the e-mail list (PHILOS-L@LISTSERV.LIV.AC.UK) has postings of jobs. To join, mail to LISTSERV@LISTSERV.LIV.AC.UK with the command: SUBSCRIBE PHILOS-L
* Tell the Director of Graduate Studies and other members of the Faculty that you are applying for jobs so that they can keep you up to date with any information they receive.

Academic job applications

In the Faculty Office you will find a file containing advice on the construction of CVs, covering letters and application forms. A number of Research Fellows and UTOs have kindly deposited their CVs in the file.

Information about philosophy departments

* Consult web pages
* The UK sensitive map locates UK Universities: http://www.scit.wlv.ac.uk/ukinfo

Advice for job seekers; mock interviews etc.

* Supervisors are obvious first stops for advice on prospects and written submissions.
* You can consult your supervisor for advice on the construction of CVs, etc. They will help organise mock interviews, job talks and presentations when the real things loom.
* The Careers Service can also help with CVs and mock interviews.

RECOMMENDED READING
for Graduate Students and Research Fellows in Philosophy

These books and many more can all be found in the reference section of the Philosophy Library.

The PhD

   A classic ‘survival manual’ with useful chapters on managing supervisors and the psychology of writing a thesis.

   Useful advice from proposal to viva and beyond

   Good general guide about how to approach a variety of tasks

Publishing

   In addition to notes on getting papers published, there is a section on resources for writing and publishing philosophy and a comprehensive listing of philosophy journals.

Style

   A philosopher offers advice; witty.

MHRA Style Book (London: MHRA, 1996)
   ‘Notes for Authors, Editors and Writers of Theses’

   A sensible and simple set of guidelines for improving writing style.

N.B. There are several other relevant reference books in the graduate centre.
Guides for teachers

One of the best texts on teaching and learning. Excellent chapters on lecturing, small group teaching and helping students learn.

Good chapters on the problems with small group teaching, and on marking essays.

A very readable and straightforward guide.

Some good ideas on maximising student participation.

A dip-in book with lots of tips on helping students organise their studies, make effective notes, write and revise.

Lots of helpful tips.

Hounsell, D. & Murray, R. (1992): Essay Writing for Active Learning (Sheffield; CVCP, USDU)
Part 2 includes some good examples of guidance given to students on essay writing.

Very useful guide to helping students with presentations, time-management, and learning from seminars. Part 2 contains good examples of guidance on these matters.

Ideal for a quick start. Informal and easy to read.

Another dip-in book with ideas grouped under the major teaching areas.

Guides for undergraduates (to recommend to them and to mine for tips)

Focuses on the structure of arguments.

An excellent, readable guide with lots of examples and exercises. It covers organisation, reading and note-taking, lectures, seminars, writing essays and exams.

Simple, practical tips to use from day one.

Good advice on essay writing with lots of examples.
